		Performance 5.30pm-6.30pm			Fanny herself and will include singing, dancing and acting workshops. Actor, Darren Johnson says… "The ability to express yourself effectively is just one of the reasons why performing arts is important. Confidence building, a greater self-knowledge and improved communications skills are all important in creating a free thinking and open minded individual. Our annual pantomime may well be most children's first experience of live theatre. If that experience is magical enough it can have a lasting impression. In the days of computer games, DVD's and all the persuasive influences of the internet, participation in a workshop such as this could well be a catalyst. Will they have fun? Oh yes, they will!"
